Athens, March 19.—A rumor that Samuel Insull is at the mercy of gangsters who slipped aboard his little Greek freighter in Piraeus harbor aroused excitement in Athens today.

The Piraeus harbor master announced that since late Sunday he had received no messages from the ship aboard which Insull is bound for unknown port.

Interview published
No newspapermen are known to have boarded the Malotis at Piraeus but nevertheless two Greek newspapers printed what they claimed was an exclusive interview with Insull.

"If I should return to America they would kill me," he was quoted as saying. "It is the well-known mania with which the American government has pursued me."

Some said he was bound for Abyssinia and that he would find refuge there from the indictments returned against him in Cook County, Illinois, when his public utilities empire crumbled about his own and hundreds of thousands of stockholders' heads.

J. Stewart, a resident of Sooke, who has not been seen in the vicinity of his home for some time, was believed today to have lost his life while making a trip from Sooke to Victoria in his twelve-foot rowboat Huskie.

Investigations made by Esquimalt and Provincial police have developed this theory, following the finding of a boat drifting at the entrance to Victoria harbor by Henry Monaghan of Esquimalt.

The letter ends with a recommendation that all vouchers and records be kept until such time as a final and satisfactory audit has been made.

Views Divided on Advisability of Placing Authority in Government Hands, But Direct Condemnation Withheld Pending Developments; Hot Debate Is Expected

Ottawa Refuses To Make Comment

People of British Columbia were divided today on the wisdom of conferring upon the provincial government the authorities cited in the Special Powers Act, but major comment was withheld until Premier Pattullo has addressed the Legislature on the bill.

In some quarters the act, which has already become known as the SPA, is applauded vigorously as a demonstration of the government's intention to tackle its recovery move with a firm hand; on others it is labeled as a move towards dictatorship, Fascism and other strong terms which imply an infringement upon personal liberty.

The Dominion Government so far is non-committal. Members of the Legislature have little to say yet, but it is certain one of the hottest debates in years will revolve around the measure.

INDICATE SUPPORT
Mainland newspapers indicate general support.

The Vancouver Sun says: "The measure, if it nothing else, is a stunning blow against the forces of stagnation and inaction."

"Liberal Canada will watch what happens next as the test of Liberalism's value in a national emergency."

The Vancouver Province warns against hysteria, advises the government to step very carefully in utilizing the powers under the bill and says Premier Pattullo "will only carry the people of British Columbia with him so long as he calmly pursues a sensible and not a fantastic course."

The News-Herald calls Premier Pattullo "A man with a plan," and adds that the bill is a consummation which the people devoutly desire.

All are agreed that "under" the proper handling the SPA will mean a lot. Without that it may mean trouble or nothing.

Mayor L. D. Taylor of Vancouver says: "I do not believe it will be in the best interests of the province that any undue criticism should be made of the step taken until it has been given the test of time."

Percy Bengough, secretary of the Vancouver and New Westminster Trades and Labor Council, said: "I think it will have to be judged by its results, because we have no precedent for it in Canada."

"I can see one probable advantage—just if it may eliminate a lot of delay and red tape in dealing with pressing problems. This sort of thing is rather foreign to the democratic ideas of Canadians but there seems to be a world-wide tendency to do away with the democratic machinery of government, at least for a time."

Rhodes, Minister of Finance, and his officials. While the annual financial forecast and taxation programme will not be presented until after Easter, the work of getting it in shape takes many weeks. Hundreds of representations are being made to the minister suggesting the imposition of new taxes and levies, the increasing of others and reduction or elimination of still more. Contents of the budget will be closely guarded until Mr. Rhodes reads his budget speech in the Commons.

McGeer Expounds Plan For National Control of Credit

In simpler terms, the resolution proposes the government take from bankers the power of controlling the credit of the nation.

PRIVATE BANKING MAINTAINED

In this process, Mr. McGeer said, merchant banking would not be wiped out. The administering of private finance would be confined to its proper sphere. The administration of public finance and credit would be vested in the national bank.

The plan would enable the government to finance all government enterprises and social services without borrowing credit at interest from private capital.

Mr. McGeer went into an explanation of monetary economics and, to prove that the age of money had been replaced by the age of credit, he declared banks with only a gold reserve of $70,000,000, actually owed their depositors more than $200,000,000.

In other words, credit, not cash, were the controlling function of business to-day and the actual legal tender was used for no other purpose than settling of inter-bank balances, he contended.

GOVERNMENT CREATES MONEY

The government was already in the position of creating money as far as the coin and legal tender (one and two dollar bills) were concerned. The theory that value of currency depended upon its convertibility into gold had now been thoroughly dispelled. And, for instance, in every fifty cent coin there was only twelve cents worth of silver on the present market value. The government actually created thirty-eight cents of the value.

"Can anyone in this time of stress see why the government should not mint silver coins for its expenses instead of bankrupting the taxpayers. Money is a creature of the law; it is created by Parliament. The inherent value is not in the gold and Reduced Army Air Mail Service In U.S.

Eight Flying Routes Resumed To-day Cover One-quarter of Former Commercial Distance

Associated Press

Washington, March 19.—Mail-laden United States army planes again resumed to-day over a skeletonized system of airways, with "safety first" the order of the day.

Grounded for a week because of a ten-man death list—now raised to eleven—the army mail men took the air again over eight routes. Flight operations started during the night.

The War Department awaited the report of a board of inquiry into the crash that took the life of Lieut. H. G. Richardson at Cheyenne, Wyo., Saturday.

NEW INSTRUMENTS

The fliers were provided with carefully inspected planes, newly equipped for blind and night flying and with improved radio facilities.

The eight routes covering a distance of one-quarter as long as that previously traveled by commercial companies are: New York to Chicago and Chicago to San Francisco; New York to New York; New York to Atlanta and Jacksonville; Chicago to Dallas; Salt Lake City to Seattle and Portland; Salt Lake City to San Diego; Cheyenne to Denver.

LEGISLATION SOON

Congressional committees to-day returned to the task of framing legislation in conformance with the President's request that the air mail operations be resumed as quickly as possible.

It was, he said, like putting one glass of water into a bucket and taking out two glasses. Repetition of this would eventually dry up the bucket, in the same way as the system of credits had been dried up.

"And this," he declared, "is what we call a sound money system, but it is purely a credit racket and it has what has brought the whole scheme of the progress of civilization into complete and pitiable disaster and into complete impotency."

"Governments to-day are supporting an interest system which denies a man the right to continue in business and to retain the things for which he has struggled a lifetime."

Mr. McGeer, after outlining in this way how the interest system threatened ruin, made his remedial proposal.

There was too much issue with Roosevelt's monetary policy in the U.S., under which he had borrowed credits for works and loans, increasing the debt.

Both Russia and Japan were using national administration of public credit and, as a matter of fact, were financing both public administration and private enterprise in export trade. As a result they were to-day enjoying the greatest trade of their histories and had built up the greatest war machines.

GO BANKRUPT OR—?

"It is our position: We are going to continue using our present system of credit, or bankruptcy, or else we will follow these lines and adopt a national 'sound money' system. There is no need to socialize private financing and destroy merchants' credit. What we must do is to take over the public administration of credit."

Mr. McGeer declared it was not an uncontrolled inflationary move. He produced a chart to describe how government expenditure would all be financed on credit supplied by the national bank.

Accumulation of these credits into few hands, and a redundancy of credit, (or inflation) would be prevented by regulatory taxes such as income taxes, profits tax, succession duties and so forth.

"It would eliminate taxes as we know them to-day, but they would serve merely to regulate the purchasing power."

Mr. McGeer dealt also with the world trade feature of the plan and the relationships between the Dominion and provincial governments.

This 'Hospital-Tested' Remedy Is Needed By Tired People

You may be one of those very numerous people who feel tired out, always exhausted, run-down, nervous, if so, the trouble probably is that there is not enough vital oxygen being carried from the lungs or enough nourishment from the digestive organs to build body cells normally and to clear the system of poisons. In a word, you have a "low blood count," and need a tested restorative. Thousands of people have this condition without knowing that it can be quickly and easily corrected.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is a "hospital-tested" blood builder that will benefit you as it has helped others. A recent "blood-test" clinic of 40 people at a leading Canadian hospital furnished scientific proof of the remarkable efficiency of these pills in restoring health, strength and vigor.

Among the 40 people who were volunteer, tested patients, was a young woman who was in evident need of a blood-builder. Her blood count was low, the red corpuscles being not only too few in number but also too small in size, and the haemoglobin also was below normal. Although she didn't know it, these were the cause of her exhausted feeling, lack of pep, nervousness, impaired appetite. With 30 other patients she was given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for a period of five weeks.

At the end of this time the young lady's blood tested 10 per cent higher in haemoglobin, the red blood corpuscles were greatly increased in number and were of normal size. She had lost her "always tired" feeling and her nervousness, her appetite was sharpened and she was feeling full of pep and energy. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had restored her blood stream to a normal, healthy condition. It had done as much for the other patients. It will do as much for you.

Your druggist has this "hospital-tested," proven blood-builder. Start your treatment to-day. At all druggists—50c a package.

Authentic report of this case, certified by the hospital pathologist, is on file.

VOTES GIVEN PETER VERIGIN

His Leadership Endorsed at Two Meetings of Doukhobors at Brilliant, B.C.

Canadian Press

Brilliant, B.C., March 19.—Peter Verigin, leader of the Doukhobors, was endorsed at two meetings of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood here yesterday and received what was stated to be unanimous endorsement. Each meeting was attended by from 1,200 to 1,500 people.

"I come to bury Caesar, not to praise him," said Verigin, pointing out that if the Doukhobors were not wholeheartedly in support of his policies he would retire.

Comments against the community were attributed to "traitors" within their own ranks. Such "traitors" could end only in disaster for the community, "if you cut my throat, I cut your own," he said.

OBSEY COUNTRY'S LAWS

"My policy and the policy of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood is to obey the laws of the provinces and the Dominion of Canada," stated Verigin. At the same time he declared "the community will have nothing to do with the Sons of Freedom, who are not true Doukhobors at all."

He was replying in part to a warning from the Department of the Attorney-General of British Columbia that he must not set himself up as a "dictator" of his followers outside the laws of Canada, as had been charged in letters received by the department.

Verigin also followed an announcement that plans for the release and placement of Sons of Freedom undergoing imprisonment for non-payment of taxes under the Dominion and British Columbia governments were participating.

PROPOSAL ABROAD

"I want to remain in Canada," said Verigin, "and to become and be regarded as a true Canadian citizen."

Verigin, a fanatic, when they are released, will say they have beaten the government of Canada. I know of propaganda all over Europe, and in the United States, to the effect that the government of Canada is weak because it cannot handle the Sons of Freedom fanatics. It is a lie."

Though declaring the community would have nothing to do with the Sons of Freedom, he said: "We recognize the fact that some of those who are in the Sons of Freedom are agitators. And the community is willing to co-operate as far as it can with the government of British Columbia in dealing with the problems of the Sons of Freedom."

"We have made proposals for this connection of offering to give the Sons of Freedom $10,000,000 worth of land on which to live."

EXPENSES NOT SHARED

He declared the "fanatics" had refused to pay the share of taxes and community expenses, with the result they had corrupted other Doukhobors. If action had not been taken against them they would have broken up the community and made useless millions of dollars' worth of property which the community had built up by hard work. Their actions were a disgrace to the community and to the Doukhobors. If the "fanatics" were thrown back on the community there would be nothing but chaos and trouble again.

Verigin's charges of eviction from community property, he asked what would happen to a conductor or a train who allowed passengers to ride on the backs of the community without paying their fares," he said.

All parents must send their children to school, said Verigin, outlining to the community policy, and taxes due governments as well as interest and principal loans obtained from any source, must be paid.

FREEDOM OF PRESS

During his defence of his leadership, Verigin upheld the freedom of the press.

"I do not believe in Bolshevism, or Hitlerism, or Fascism, but I do believe the press should have full freedom to report the opinions of all schools of thought and also to express its opinions," he said, after voicing words of praise for the press of Canada.

He made it clear that in anything he said he had no reference to party politics. He had nothing to say against Liberal, Conservative or any other party.

CITIZEN OF U.S.

It was pointed out the former Chicago utilities executive has been a citizen of the United States a number of years through naturalization.

Should he require British citizenship, it is explained, he would have to go through the routine of a specified number of years' residence in British territory, the same as any other person desiring to become a British subject.

PEOPLE AND DOGS IN CRASH

Eight Autoists Hurt at Portland, Ore.; Champion Terrier Stolen; Pup Killed

Associated Press
Portland, Ore., March 19.—Eight persons were injured, the Canadian champion female Yorkshire terrier, Madame Frue Frue, was stolen, her pup Margie was killed, and the Canadian male Yorkshire champion, Prince Nicholas, was badly hurt in an automobile collision here yesterday.
Mrs. H. L. Rothwell, owner of the missing Madame Frue Frue, told police she was certain the dog had been stolen, since it was accustomed to crowds and was so small it could hardly have strayed more than a few yards. Yorkshire terriers, which have fleeces like sheep, weigh only two or three pounds and stand but a few inches in height.
The injured:
Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Rothwell, 3245
West Tenth Avenue, Vancouver, B.C.;
Heien Robertson, thirty-five, of 126
East Queen's Road, Vancouver, B.C.; Mrs. Grace Bunnell, thirty-six, Portland, her three children, and Mrs.
Corra Jarrett, sixty-two, Portland.
They were treated at a Portland hospital.
CHARGE LAID
Mr. Rothwell, driver of the car in which the Canadians and their prize dogs were just starting back to Vancouver after attending a dog show here, was arrested on a charge of failing to yield right of way after his car struck one driven by Mrs. Bun-nell, with whom the Portlanders were riding. Police asserted he had failed to stop at a stop sign.

Occupants of both vehicles were thrown to the pavement by the crash,
but none were dangerously injured.
The pup Margie was killed by the fall, while the female terrier Madame Frue Frue disappeared immediately after the accident. Prince Nicholas was treated for chest injuries at a veterinary hospital. The lost dog and the injured Prince Nicholas were valued at $500 each by Mrs. Rothwell and Mrs. Robertson, their respective owners. The pup Margie was valued at $100.

Nazi State Placed Above Christianity

"We must return to the religious

Persons Who Murdered

Associated Press
Paris, March 19.—A new sensation in the Prince murder mystery kept alive national excitement over the Stavisky affair to-day, continuing to feed popular expressions of political indignation.
Two operators of a Paris gambling club, Eugene Tribout and Adrien Ceri, were arrested yesterday and Tribout's two automobiles were seized.
They are charged with receiving money from Stavisky or from one of his associates. Police are seeking to establish the movements of the two machines on the night Judge Albert Prince was murdered at Dijon.
The gambling club was supposed to be one of Stavisky's manifold enterprises.

Group Settlement Plan For Australia

Canadian Press via Reuters
Sydney, Australia, March 19.—Australian representatives of the Empire Settlers' League are investigating possibilities of group settlement of British farmers in northwestern New South Wales.
The league aims to place destitute
British farmers on farms of about 10-200 acres. Products of these farms would be shipped to England and would not compete on local markets.
Meanwhile the government announced eleven British shipping lines with at least thirty-three ships would be available this year to carry Australian chilled beef to the United Kingdom.

Prince May Be Invited to Canada

gesting the Prince of Wales might be invited to attend the Jacques Cartier celebrations in Quebec this year, there is no foundation for rumors he will visit Canada. It was learned to-day. Previous suggestions the Prince would make a trip to the Dominion have been denied. In connection with a dispatch from Quebec which said Three Rivers hoped the Prince would make the journey, it is pointed out here any such invitation would come through the Canadian government.

Hon. H. H. Stevens Says
Canada's Business Problems Must Be Cured

Canadian Press
Kitchener, Ont., March 19.—Business problems of to-day must be cured and the purchasing power of the purchaser returned, Hon. H. H.
Stevens, Dominion Minister of Trade and Commerce, declared in an address at the annual banquet of the Kitchener board of trade Saturday.
"I do not belong to that school of thought favoring the fixing of prices," the minister said, "but if we cannot adjust the present system so there will be fair prices, then some other system must be found. I deprecate the government stepping in, but the question must be cured."
"Either business will do it within its own activities or influences outside must step in," Mr. Stevens continued. "As to the second course, the government doing it, there would be constitutional difficulties, and it is indiscreet to get an amendment to the British North America Act unless you would go the whole length. It is a difficult thing, for there is a sensitivity on provincial rights."

FARMERS' PROBLEMS
Farmers' interest rates are too high at seven and eight per cent. There would have to be a re-adjustment downward, the minister said.

He emphasized the importance of Canada's international trade at the present time. High tariffs proved a barrier to her external trade.
He urged business leaders to get together with a view of ending unethical practices in business so that farmers would obtain reasonable returns for their products.

"Exports to Empire countries in February," Mr. Stevens said, "were $17,000,000, a 35 per cent increase Exports to Great Britain were $13,000,- 000, a 31 per cent increase, exports to foreign countries $21,000,000, a 51 per cent increase, and exports to the United States $14,000,000, a 67 per cent increase."

Mr. Stevens said exports to Empire countries in the last eleven months were $249,000,000, a 21 per cent increase, while exports to Great Britain in the same period were $205,000,000,
a 29 per cent increase. Exports to foreign countries were $273,000,000, a 17 per cent increase, and exports to the United States $174,000,000, an increase of 21 per cent.

INTERNAL TRADE
He then mentioned the importance of Canada's internal trade. "We consume," he said, "about 98 to 99 per cent of our beef, practically all our eggs, milk and butter, and about 80 per cent of our bacon. Wheat is practically the only product of which there is a surplus."
"About 50 per cent of the people are agriculturists. In other words," he continued, "about half of the people are in that body depending on these things. The secret of Canada's prosperity lies in the prosperity of that great body of agriculturists. If

THE SPECIAL POWERS ACT

IT IS UNDERSTOOD THAT PREMIER Pattullo will make it clear that in seeking for the government certain emergency powers during the interim between the legislative sessions he is not cherishing any dictatorial design. A disclaimer of this character becomes necessary on account of the interpretation given to the Special Powers Act, which was introduced in the Legislature on Friday night, in some of the press reports which have been circulated all over Canada. In view of the fact that anything akin to the exercise of dictatorial powers by any Canadian government would be in direct conflict with the aspirations and temper of the Canadian people, the sensational reports which arose from the bill now before the House are bound to react to the detriment of this province, and, therefore, should be authoritatively corrected.

While the Premier has not the slightest intention of assuming dictatorial status—which would make his government ridiculous in the eyes of the Canadian public—and in the measure before the Legislature is merely seeking power to deal with an extraordinary situation which might develop between sessions of the House, it must be admitted that the terms of the legislation under review in their present form furnish some foundation for the reports we have noted. Undoubtedly they reflect an abdication by the Legislature—the elected representatives of the people—of certain duties and responsibilities imposed upon it by the British North America Act, and we doubt if the House can divest itself of those functions in favor of the ministry.

It is fundamental in British representative institutions that control of the public finances must be, in a general sense, exercised by the elected representatives of the people. From the electors governments derive the power to levy taxation and spend money. Without that safeguard responsible government ceases to exist, and it is vital therefore that it be preserved. If this principle is not maintained there is no reason for the maintenance of a Legislature, which means, in turn, that there is no reason for the existence of government itself; we might as well revert to the consular system which existed in France after the first revolution.

The Special Powers Act clearly will have to be narrowed to meet certain specific requirements subject to legislative responsibility. Obviously, the government should be empowered to deal with unusual economic developments which may arise after the present session without the necessity of calling a special meeting of the House, but it ought to be possible to provide for definite specific courses without attempting to abdicate in sweeping terms the control by the people of the province through their parliament over the activities of the government—which in fact is merely a committee of parliament and subject to parliamentary direction. No useful purpose can be served by pressing for powers which, if exercised, would be thrown out by the courts, or disallowed by the Ottawa government as an infringement of the British North America Act.

The government's problems are exceptionally formidable and demand unusual treatment. Premier Pattullo and his colleagues are leaving no stone unturned in their efforts to find the necessary solution; but it would be paying them a poor compliment to say that they are powerless to grapple with their difficulties without powers which no other government in Canada has dreamed of seeking, and which, even though they were designed merely for temporary purposes, constitute a breach in the parliamentary system of the province.

A SLIPPERY SUBJECT

BUTTER IN RECENT YEARS HAS GOT itself thoroughly mixed up with Canadian politics. The House of Commons at Ottawa the other day was figuratively "slithering" about on the greasy substance.

The trouble started when the opposition found itself asked to pass a vote of $24,000 for the dairy industry of the Dominion. Liberals told the Conservatives they "slipped into power" on New Zealand butter when they criticized the King government in 1930 for permitting importations from that Dominion. So the Liberals charged the Conservatives with the same political crime—permitting the importation of New Zealand butter.

Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, was piloting his estimates through the House at the time. He claimed the government policy of protection for agriculture had benefited the farmers of the country, declaring the Canadian butter price was in such a relation to the world price during April, 1933, that producers here gained a bonus of eighteen cents for every pound they churned.

The story about New Zealand butter is well known and interesting. In the election campaign of 1930 the Canadian dairymen were getting between thirty-eight and forty cents a pound for their product, and at that time nearly $14,000,000 worth of New Zealand butter was coming into Canada by paying a duty of one cent a pound. But Mr. Bennett and Conservative speakers across the country declared that this importation of butter from the Antipodes was killing the Canadian dairy industry, that if the Canadian people would permit Mr. Bennett to form a government he would increase the duty and insure for the dairymen of Canada a price of at least fifty, and, perhaps, sixty cents a pound. Mr. Bennett got his mandate; he increased the duty to eight cents a pound. Then began a costly retaliatory tariff game. New Zealand killed a Canadian automobile export business worth nearly $6,000,000 annually, and finally the two Dominions, from a business exchange point of view, became as foreign countries to one another. A trade amounting to nearly $40,000,000—Canada always with a substantially favorable balance—dropped to less than $6,000,000 in a very short time.

Now, the interesting point about the whole butter controversy, as it concerns the promises made in the summer of 1930, is that when the Canadian tariff went into effect, completely shutting out the New Zealand product, Canadian dairymen, pepped up by the vision of fifty, or even sixty, cent butter, got into a rapid stride and began to produce enough to satisfy the Canadian twenty-nine-pounds-per-capita-consumption per annum. They did more than this, however, and produced a surplus. But the price the wholesalers paid them, with no competition to worry about, gradually dropped from the good old days of 1930—a one-cent duty and a thirty-eight-to-forty-cent return—to a wholesale figure which at times went as low as eighteen cents a pound. Of this condition the consumer naturally did not complain. It was a condition nevertheless which completely exploded the tariff duty which Mr. Bennett and his supporters expounded nearly four years ago. New Zealand butter now is coming in again. It is paying the new trade-treaty duty of five cents a pound and, in some instances, the old eight-cent duty, as admitted by Hon. Mr. Weir.

The reason why New Zealand butter is entering Canada to-day is found in the fact that, in the words of the Minister of Agriculture, our dairymen are not producing enough to meet consumption demands. They were not in 1930, when they were getting thirty-eight to forty cents a pound and "dying" under this "small-price" affliction. They are now getting about thirty-one cents a pound—and the consumer is paying about eight cents a pound more than when the field was free of competition.

EAST AND WEST

A POLITICAL COMMENTATOR AT Ottawa, writing in an eastern weekly, observes that before the provincial conference held in Ottawa last January the expenditure of the western provinces was the butt of criticism in Eastern Canada. Various speeches have now been delivered in Parliament on this theme and most of them have been in defence of the West. The Prime Minister also in an address in Montreal went out of his way to controvert the theory that the West has been more extravagant than the rest of the nation. Yet the aspersions apparently will not die down, and that in spite of the official statistics which show that the eastern provinces have, since the war, increased debt and expenditure at a much greater rate than any western province. British Columbia, of course, has a very high per capita debt, but it was not incurred during this decade.

The debts of the West, this impartial commentator observes, originated first in the necessity of providing an immense territory, rapidly being settled, with roads and services. The influx of immigrants under the direction of the Dominion was unfortunately not planned; it was haphazard, and to-day the costs of provincial government must be borne by wide and sparsely populated areas. Under the full crisis of depression in export industry, these governments have entrenched their expenditures, they have exhausted their taxation powers. In conclusion: "The truth is that, unable to reduce interest on their bonds, unless the Dominion government will take parallel action, they are on the verge of default."

THE AMAZING VIEWS OF GOERING

"DO YOU THINK WAR IN EUROPE IS likely?" asked Mr. Ward Price in a London Daily Mail interview with General Goering, the right-hand man of Chancellor Hitler of Germany.

"I am no prophet," said General Goering, "but no one can deny that there is an enormous abundance of possible causes of war. I hope that enough people are still alive who remember the last one, and realize that wherever a new war started it would spread everywhere until European civilization perished in a universal blood bath. The nations of Europe have a mission. They are destined to be rulers of the more primitive races of the world. They will lose that position if they fight among themselves.

"If all European statesmen were real leaders, like those of Germany, instead of being dominated by democratic parties and parliamentary cliques, then world peace would be safe, as they would realize that war could benefit no one.

"I say emphatically that European solidarity must be sought elsewhere than at the League of Nations, which has never changed its character as a League of the victors against the vanquished and an alliance to keep the spoils of conquest. I would like all statesmen in Europe to be old front soldiers."

These are truly amazing views; but there is nothing amazing in the suggestion that long after Hitlerism has been forgotten even the people of Germany will have improved on the Constitution of Weimar which created the republic—they will have remodelled it on the lines which true democracy will have dictated.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BETTER
The Winnipeg Tribune

A buoyant tone is apparent in the reports of many Manitoba municipalities. Tax collections generally in 1933 showed a remarkable increase over those of the previous year. Many of the rural municipalities and smaller towns have no debt at all. While some are still in difficulties the whole picture is definitely brighter than it was a year ago.

CONQUEST OF FLU
The London Daily Herald

If the workers in the National Institute for Medical Research succeed in their attempt to immunize human beings from influenza, they will have rendered an enormous service to humanity. For "flu" is one of the most deadly diseases of our time. At its worst it slays millions. More men and women died of influenza in the 1913 epidemic than were killed in the four years of war. The research work is still far from complete. The workers themselves, true to scientific tradition, make no big claims. But the progress made in the last year gives more ground for hope than there has been yet.

Loose Ends

Away from the Legislature and back to earth in daffodil time—when the three turtles emerge—and Mary Louise has the weasels—and the big plum tree is out—and all that kind of thing.

By H. B. W.

IMPORTANT

THIS MOST IMPORTANT thing about the Legislature (which has been mentioned rather too often here of late) is to be able to get away from it at the week-end and realize that it doesn't amount to much after all; not I hasten to add, the Legislature itself particularly, but politics and government and human affairs generally. They don't amount to much. They will appear to amount to less and less as time goes on. Why, already the gravest problems which kept the Legislature sitting for six and eight weeks a few years ago seem like trifles now and are trifles compared to the business we settle over there in ten minutes these days.

And there is this comforting thought for all capable of thinking—all these economic issues which convulse the world to-day will be settled after a while and on, as we look back on our grandfathers, and wonder why we were worrying about such obvious solutions as these. Our grandfathers—another comforting thought—having solved the economic problems, having learned to distribute the world's goods to everyone, will have encountered some other still more grisly problem which we can't conceive of now, something worse, probably than poverty and war.

They will take prosperity as a matter of course, as an obvious thing, which it is; but they will be worrying themselves into exhaustion by something else which they will discover in the meantime. Probably, after all, you are lucky to have been born in the time of the Eighteenth Legislature, when the only difficulty is paying our bills and keeping alive, which, after all, are mere details.

BACK TO EARTH

BUT LET US forget the Legislature to-day, as it has probably forgotten us. I had intended rather to give you some ripe thoughts of a frivolous nature, but I was unwise enough, as you may have heard (such news travels rapidly) to let the ineffable Tom Uphill of Fernie see my notes. He proceeded to have them typewritten out and pasted to a newspaper, which he read to the House, saying that I had written it. The House roared with obscene laughter and thought Tom was a very clever fellow. So I have given up the practice of politics and returned to the streets, where there are no big political questions to betray a poor yokel in this cruel fashion. I have returned to the countryside in this daffodil time, the jolliest, loveliest time of the whole year.

Yes, the labors of the little girl next door, her brother and me, have borne fruit at last. In the autumn, when you were huddling about your fire, we went out and dug in the sod and put thousands of daffodils to sleep there. Now they are springing up to about greetings at us from all directions—in the most unexpected and forgotten places. In the dark oak woods, far past the big fir tree, in the narrow crevices of the big rocks, where their trumpets blow out their stirring music far above us, to the sun which glides them.

FRONTIERSMEN

THIS IS the only way to grow daffodils—not as you grow them, in narrow beds, pampered and nursed, but out in the wilderness, where they can live the hardy pioneer life that they love, where they can rear up great families of frontiersmen like themselves. See how big they grow out there in the native sod, how bravely they beat the wind! Wordsworth wrote a pretty poem about daffodils flustering and dancing in the breeze, but either his daffodils were poor, weak, civilized creatures, or the distinguished literary gent was stretching his poetic license. Other weaker poets may flutter with excitement in this spring season, or abandon themselves to wild dancing, but your daffodil never loses his dignity. Stiff and upright and unafraid he stands, and while he may nod and sway in the wind, he never flutters, never dances.

We know out this way because we watch them—not casually as you would, walking down the city streets, but close up. We lie among them in the oak woods, on a bed of last year's dry leaves, and watch the daffodils from their own level or below it. We lie there, the little girl, her brother and I, and we discuss the larger aspects of life which you, cabinied, cribbed and confined in the city, would not understand.

was saved in the nick of time when the little girl from next door found another old one somewhere and brought it over.

I perceive that this column is pretty full and I have said nothing yet, which is quite an accomplishment. But, better still, I have managed to keep away from the Legislature almost altogether. What a relief that must be to everyone, even including the Legislature!

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELS

VILLANELLE
Old moon, I wonder if you saw Sunlight within the walls of Troy,
Or Greek Helen's face without a flaw.

That beauty owning no alloy,
That beauty which the world to-day
Still finds a helen and a joy?

Perhaps when silver midnight's way
Made her grow restless in that place,
Through streets embathed in moonlight rays,
Did she lift up her lovely face
And match your splendor and your light
With its serene and perfect grace?

Then two moons shone across the night:
One shining against the starry deep
And Helen's face for men's delight!

Still down through time her magic gleams,
Though long the years that Helen sleeps.

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

March 19, 1909

(From The Times Files)

The directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital met yesterday afternoon. Dr. Russell reported that the new X-ray apparatus he had purchased in England had reached the city.

James Butler of the Gainsford Athletic Club, Drury Lane, London, who came to Victoria claiming amateur championship honors in the bantam class, certainly boxed up to his reputation last evening at the A.O.U.W. Hall against Will Hall of the Victoria Athletic Club, whom he out-pointed, outboxed, and whose nose and face he made a target of through fifteen rounds, getting a well-earned decision.

The Princess Mary will make a special call at Wrangell this week for the purpose of landing a number of men who are on their way to Cassiar in the interest of a newly-formed company, the Cassiar Gold and Copper Company of Victoria.

Inter-city basketball in the intermediate grade is arranged for tomorrow night at the Assembly Room. The match will amount to a provincial championship match for inter-city play. The match will be played between Victoria, represented by the North West Quintette, and the Vancouver Athletic Club five.

J. A. Macdonald, leader of the opposition, and Mrs. Macdonald, left last evening for their home in Roseland. During the session they have occupied the old Helmerman home on Douglas Street, where Mrs. Macdonald has been a frequent entertainer for the past two months.

Mrs. Fred Carver of Yates Street gave a children's party yesterday afternoon in honor of her little son and daughter.

"THE YOUNG MEN IN CAMP"

To the Editor:—Inadvertently, we suppose, the last paragraph of our letter under the above heading was left out of to-day's (Saturday the 17th) Times.

Since we consider it the most important part and the object of our writing, we hope you will be so good as to have it published.

May it never be said of this nation that it lost out, as Israel, of old, because it forgot the God-given inheritance: "This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein: for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success." Remembering also that "Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people!"

AN EXPLANATION

To the Editor:—In yesterday's issue appears a news item under headline, "Start Voyage in Small Boat," which states in part:

"Relying on Divine guidance, instead of the principles of navigation, of which he claims to know nothing, an evangelist has sailed with his wife and family in a forty-foot, fifteen-ton boat on a 4,500-mile cruise, without chronometer or sextant, because he would not know how to use them if he had them. The members of this family are known as 'Jehovah's witnesses.'"

Dear Editor, your reporter, perhaps unintentionally, has given to your readers a wrong impression, so, as I happen to know about this organization, may I say that while they do "rely on Divine guidance," they do not take foolish risks which would seem to "tempt Providence," as one might say.

Those people are trying to obey Christ's command to "preach the gospel of the kingdom for a witness" and to "earnestly contend for the faith once delivered to the saints" by Jesus and his apostles. This family will go close to land in their small boat, they could not do much preaching out in midocean. They will probably spend more time on land than on the water, and because they are doing this work, Jehovah God in his word calls them His witnesses, and promises them His protection.

MOTION PICTURE CENSORSHIP

To the Editor:—Attorney-General Sloan's statement in the Legislature the other day that the B.C. motion picture censor board had turned down such films as "Sign of the Cross" and "The Private Life of Henry VIII" must set people wondering what kind of a board the people of the province are being taxed to pay for.

If it had not been for the action of the appeal board, in overruling the censor, British Columbians would

CARPET PLAY TO CONTINUE

International Matches Are Carded at Crystal Garden This Evening

Two mixed doubles and three singles matches were played in the Victoria Carpet Bowling League's championship journey Saturday evening at the Crystal Garden, with play keenly contested.

This evening's play will be featured by international matches with England opposing Scotland and Ireland meeting Canada.

Results of Saturday's play and to have been precluded from seeing these notable pictures.

This month's Victorians had the privilege of seeing an unusual and thoughtful film, "Road to Life," one of the great Russian screen dramas, characterized by acting of exceptional ability.

One hardly knows what to think when it is learned that this picture was turned down by the B.C. censor board, and permission for showing it was obtained only after a long and costly fight on the part of the importers. The picture has been shown in most parts of the English-speaking world and had not the slightest suggestion of any scene that might be offensive to even the most prudish.

It was a serious piece of work, and that is the reason it could not be appreciated by the B.C. censor. It was apparently above the mental grasp of a board ever eager to rush through to us the extravaganza of Hollywood or the low comedy and perillousities that characterize the English films.

Many people are coming to the conclusion that B.C. does better without its censor than without the better type of pictures which they are endeavoring to keep from us, while we are taxed to pay their salaries.

SWAN NUISANCE AT ELK LAKE

To the Editor:—I understand that this question is now coming to a point when a decision is about to be made as to whether Victoria's beautiful summer park is to be used as a swannery or for the enjoyment of the population for picnicking, bathing and recreation.

A notice prominently displayed on the East Saanich Road two notices within less than 100 yards of each other, reads: "Swanage Beach" and the other reads "Game Sanctuary. Protect the Water Fowl; Feed the Royal Swans."

At present the so-called royal swans—there is no question about that—the enclosure which fails to enclose them cuts off a considerable portion of the lake front at the very point where the sign "Bathing Beach" is displayed. Just beyond this enclosure, on a part favored by the swans, no person would wish to bathe a second time. At the entrance to this beach, as explained above, not actually at the beach, but just beyond the enclosure, there are headquarters, but close thereto, there is a third sign warning anyone who might be so foolish as to expect to enjoy his recreation accompanied by his family and dog, that the royal swans have decided against dogs, and his pet must be left outside.

Anyone examining the beaches at this time of year would find it hard to realize the extremely offensive condition these birds bring about in the summer, as at present they are on the verge of starvation and scour the country in search of food.

A small party of the birds recently clean-cropped the pasture of a dairyman and became so injurious to his business that he had to be removed to the swannery in a truck.

Another party flew to Royal Oak and raided a farm in search of food. Other parties wander over the highway, and one was recently run over by a car.

During the summer, as they are much more fed by visitors than they frequent the lake front and roost on the diving rafts and leaving them in a condition not nice to describe.

There are now some thirty birds and when the flock reaches the proposed tentative limit of 1,000 it will be a wonderful achievement.

A game sanctuary for migrating birds and for native waterfowl does not conflict with the enjoyment of the people but the swans make such enjoyment impossible.

Hotspurs Must Still Be Reckoned With in English Football League Race

London, March 19.—Tottenham Hotspurs have served warning they are still in the running for the championship of the English Football League. By defeating West Bromwich Albion 2 to 1 before a crowd of 23,000 at White Hart Lane the Spurs moved into a tie with Derby County for first place, only three points behind Arsenal and Huddersfield, joint-leaders.

Both Arsenal and Huddersfield were on account of cup engagements and Derby County were held to a scoreless draw by Sunderland. The other end of the division Birmingham was sent down to occupy the danger zone of relegation. Chelsea, The Pioneers absorbed a 1 to 0 defeat by Sheffield Wednesday before a crowd of 30,000 at Stamford Bridge and are fast losing their chances of staying in the first division.

SCORE ON PENALTY

Boyes scored for Bromwich at seven minutes of play at White Hart Lane, but Willie Evans evened things up before half-time on a penalty.

Sandford was ordered off for allegedly kicking Hall. O'Callaghan scored the Spurs' winning goal after a nice combination attack. Chelsea tried hard for a win at Stamford Bridge but they were given few chances by the crack Wednesday outfit.

Glasgow, March 19.—Scottish soccer fans had a considerable number of choices to select to-day, chief being the defeat of mighty Motherwell by Rangers at Parkhead, and the Glasgow Rangers' league match with Celtic at Jocky Stadium.

Both the big teams were campaigning late in the game by the opponents. As a result Rangers won a two-point lead over Motherwell. Johnstone and St. Mirren, the other teams engaged in Scottish semi-finals two weeks hence, had their engagements in smart fashion.

The Rangers were sitting pretty with goals by Nicholson and Fife until ten minutes before the final whistle. As a result Rangers won a two-point lead over Motherwell. Johnstone and St. Mirren, the other teams engaged in Scottish semi-finals two weeks hence, had their engagements in smart fashion.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

In a mid-week soccer game with the Hillside Rovers, Victoria High School went down to defeat by 3 to 1. Hess tallied High School's lone counter, while Purns, Holmes and Sage figured in the Hillside scores. The teams were as follows: Hillside Rovers — O'Connor, Sage, A. Robertson, Holmes, Murray, Purns, Barnwell, A. Carr, Harris, S. Carr and D. Robertson. High School—Renfrew, Embrey, J. O'Kell, Geoghegan, Tregellas, Barnes, R. O'Kell, Ghent, Hess, Leeson, Thorburn and McHaffie.

Owing to the overwhelming success of the Victoria High School gym display Miss Mona Miller and William Roper, physical instructors, have agreed to repeat the performance on April 13, under the auspices of the Victoria Scouts' Association.

Gay Stewart, stellar guard of the High School hockey team who received an injury in last Monday's May Tully Shield match with Oak Bay, is well on the way to recovery and is expected to be back in harness for the next fixture.

At the regular meeting of Beta Delta, Rev. E. P. Church gave an interesting talk on "Man's Ability to Control Himself," after which the boys adjourned to the cafeteria, where a small banquet was held.

The regular weekly meeting of Portia, took the form of a novelty. Noreen Creelman spoke on "When Nature Goes on the Air"; "Caroline Woolley told how 'Nature-Invented' Car; Marie Bjornstad gave a short biography of 'Queen Christina of Sweden'; and Hope Laige spoke on 'The Scottish Covenanters.' Miss Lola Maxwell acted as judge. The next meeting will take place after the Easter holidays.

On Tuesday afternoon the Victoria High School junior soccer team took a 11-0-0 decision from the Victoria City Fragments Cup eleven.

All soccer and rugby activities will cease this week, as the south field will undergo repairs. Each year the field is seeded down and rolled out, with the result that High School boasts one of the finest pitches in Victoria.

Rich Production Expected From Taylor Windfall Company at Bridge River

Some of the richest surface showings in the Bridge River gold belt will be developed at an early date by the Taylor Windfall Company, a Mining Company Ltd. of Vancouver to provide mill feed for a test mill which will be installed during the coming summer. The surface work done consists of "glory-hole" work, proven for fifty-two feet wide and over fourteen feet deep, and carries rich free gold at all places all over this width and depth, with some sensational material appearing in the vein matter, officials of the company announce.

These showings, the officials say, have been tested to a length of 150 feet with a general average throughout which will make an excellent run of ore for a mill, and when underground exploration this season and aggressive development, mine-wise will be carried out coincident with operation of the mill, which will be of a new type and embodying many revolutionary features designed to make gold prospects self-sustaining through production of gold from "the grass roots down."

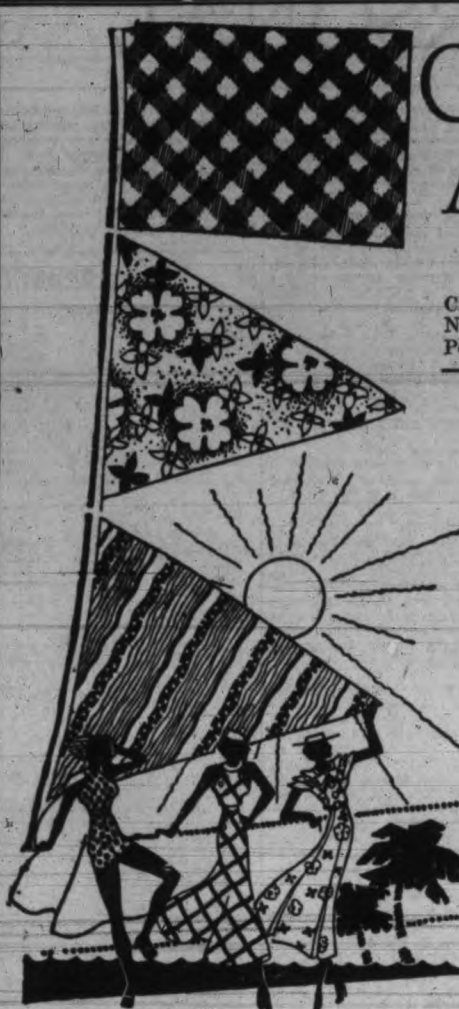

E. J. Taylor, who has developed the property up to the present stage, since 1921, and who was one of the original stakeholders of the Bralorne Mine, is president of the company and will act during the development taking place during the coming summer, in an advisory capacity, with J. Allan Crane, E.M., as consulting engineer.

CATHEDRAL TROOP
A very enjoyable bicycle hike was held last Sunday by the First Cathedral Troop. The scouts, numbering twenty-seven, rode their bicycles to the foot of Mount Finlayson and then climbed to the top, where a very good view of the surrounding countryside was obtained. The boys then had lunch, after which some good signalling work was carried out. The troop then descended the mountain at about 3:30 o'clock, arriving in the city at 6 o'clock. Scoutmaster R. White was in charge.

The regular meeting of the First Cathedral Troop was held on Friday. The meeting was opened by the duty patrol leader and was followed by inspection. The patrol leaders gave instruction to their patrol for a brief period. Three long night games were played outside, after which the boys returned to headquarters.

Major Hunter had to leave early the rest of the meeting was conducted by Troop Leader Struan Robertson. After inspection some exciting games were played and the closing was taken by P.L. Special to The Times

Point Grey, March 19.—"Beer licence for university district" shouts a cross-page headline in Friday's Abray, student publication. "Liquor board announces startling innovations in government beer policy," "first result of government's new liberalized liquor policy in attempt to compete with the United States."

But the game is up. Friday's issue was the last of the 1933-34 year. Examinations start four weeks Monday and the publication board has got to study, too. It is apparently a tradition that the last issue of the student bi-weekly should "fix" the stories, i.e., indulge in leg-pulling. Students with Jennings to the "good old beer" will still have to go down town for it, and parents and those Interested in youth can rest in peace as far as "official" university beer-drinking is concerned.

"Soviet Russia has turned the corner. After a period of two years, involving her in what was probably the most acute food crisis experienced since the famine days of 1921-22, she has emerged from her main difficulties and may now be said very definitely, for the first time since the revolution, to be on the highway toward relative prosperity," stated Carl V. Ketchum, British journalist, in an interview with The Ubray. Mr. Ketchum was sent to the U.S.S.R. by the National Council of Education, but broke with his sponsors in the east at the start of his Canadian lecture tour. He is touring the Dominion now under his own.

C.G.I.T. HOSTS
TO MOTHERS

Metropolitan Girls Entertained Many Guests at Supper Saturday Evening

The C.G.I.T. of Metropolitan Church entertained their mothers at supper on Saturday evening, March 17. The Sunday school room was a gay and cheerful scene with its seasonal decorations of a St. Patrick character, as well as an abundance of spring blooms. The young hostesses imbued the scene with gaiety, for they seemed genuinely thrilled with the occasion. One hundred and twenty set down to supper. The invited guests included Rev. E. F. and Mrs. Church, Mrs. Church Sr., Mrs. Warr and Mrs. J. H. A. Warr, Mrs. E. O. Weston, Mrs. Bawden, Mrs. J. Sargent, Miss Rita Sargent and Miss Horst. The group of assistants were: Miss Evelyn Harper, Miss Enid Church, Miss May Lewis, Miss Phyllis Benson and Miss Mary Quinn.

Miss Verla Hart, the president of the organization, introduced the programme with a few words of greeting to the mothers, to which Mrs. G. W. Robinson responded. A very interesting programme followed. Miss Elizabeth Jones led in the singing of some popular songs, and Miss Margaret Daniels, who always so generously places her gift at the disposal of her church, accompanied.

Each of the five C.G.I.T. groups sang songs which were prepared for the occasion. Each group also contributed to the programme with a skit or drill. The senior group under the leadership of Mrs. E. M. Plumb, the superintendent of the C.G.I.T., brought the evening to a very suitable conclusion with a short worship service which portrayed the significance of Easter.

Mrs. J. E. Wark of Klitka Lodge, Sprout Lake, who has been a guest at the Empress Hotel since her return from California a short time ago, left yesterday for her home up the island.

They have seven children, three daughters are living on the coast: Mrs. J. M. Copithorne, Deep Cove, Mrs. W. Carlin Jones, Vancouver, and Mrs. H. Heenmans, Seattle.

On Saturday evening the Beivedere Hotel, Sooke, held the second of a series of dances in the form of a St. Patrick's dance, with an attendance of 200 guests. Among those dancing were many parties from Jordan River and Victoria. At 11 o'clock a most enjoyable buffet supper was served. Throughout the evening the Rhythm Vendors' orchestra played a programme of the latest dance hits of the season, including the popular "Carolina," which was greatly enjoyed. The next dance will be held on April 21, and arrangements are being made to make this even a greater success than the two previous dances.

On Friday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McConnell was the rendezvous for a most jolly supper party in honor of Miss Enid McConnell. Little Miss Patsy Yeamans, daintily dressed in a pale green organdie frock and hat, wheeled in a hamper decorated in green and white and filled with miscellaneous gifts, which she, on behalf of the club, presented to Miss Taylor. IRISH CONCERT GREAT SUCCESS

Royal Victoria Theatre Well Filled For Entertaining Programme Saturday

The spirit of Saint Patrick, patron of Ireland, and beloved by millions, permeated the typically Irish concert given at Royal Victoria Theatre Saturday evening in aid of St. Louis College, when over 1,000 persons gathered to hear the excellent programme of Irish songs and dances. This annual concert has become somewhat of an institution in Victoria and is always keenly anticipated by lovers of Irish music. Bishop Murray, after the concert, thanked the large numbers of patrons for their attendance, mentioning particularly Premier Pattullo, who occupied one of the boxes.

Again this year the series of living pictures seemed to be on what the entire programme hinged. Admirably arranged and posed by Mrs. W. Lloyd Morgan, they contained life and color and portrayed several scenes famous in the history of Ireland. The pictures were entitled: "St. Patrick Journeying to Tara," "The Consecration of St. Brigid," "Saint Patrick," "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," and "Saint Brigid." Appearing in them were J. A. Walsh, Macrina Boothie, Lloyd Morgan Jr., J. D. Morgan, Betty O'Brien, Mrs. Murray, Geraldine Murray, Bernadette Colbert, Judith Monk and Robert Holley.

Irish songs that have been popular for generations were on the programme in generous measure and some of the city's leading singers were heard in them. Thomas Kelly sang "Believe Me If All Those Smiling Young Charms," and "My Love Is An Arbutus." Madame Edith Mayall chose "Rich and Rare Were the Gems She wore," and "When Love Is Kind." "Killarney," one of the loveliest of the Irish melodies, was given by the Imperial Male Quartette, as well as "Macquitos." "The Foggy Dew," adapted from an old Irish air, and "Off To Philadelphia" were rendered by Fred Wright. Mrs. Styles Schell sang "A Little Bit of Heaven," and "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen." Miss Elaine Bassant appeared in a singing and dancing number, "My Wild Irish Rose," and Mrs. W. H. Wilson completed the list of vocal soloists with her extremely pleasing rendition of "One Morning Very Early" and "The Last Rose of Summer."

The pupils of St. Louis College contributed to the programme with several interesting numbers. In an Irish four-hand reel were seen E. Baines, W. Cownden, J. Seveson and P. Clarkson. The boys' choir of the college was excellent in "Sir Edgemoor" and "The Bells of Shandon." The boys also gave "Waves of Tarry," a spirited Irish reel. Dance numbers were provided by Miriam Schwabe and Muriel Unthoff, and the orchestra, under the direction of Alfred Prescott provided an orchestral selection, "The Emerald Isle." "The Boys of Tipperary" and "Celtic Lament" of Green Downer, in two amusing monologues, earned prolonged applause. Playing the accompaniments for the various artists, and for the dancers were Mrs. Clifford, Mrs. M. Wright, Mrs. E. Baines, Miss Vera Bailey, Miss Jessie Jones, Miss Roma Trudell and Miss Helen Peiter. Major L. Bullock-Webster was the narrator for the living pictures. Much of the success of the concert is attributed to the hard work of the committee, composed of Frank F. Doherty, George Brady and Frank Schell.

GRL ALDERMAN IS BARRISTER

Miss Margaret Crang of Edmonton Admitted to Bar

Canadian Press
Edmonton, March 19.—Possibly the youngest woman to be elected alderman in all Canada, Miss Margaret Tryphena Francis Crang, twenty-three years of age, has been admitted to the bar.

Before Mr. Justice Frank Ford in Supreme Court, Miss Crang, slender and attractive in her flowing gown, took the oath of allegiance to His Majesty the King, and of truthfulness in her profession.

"Miss Crang, this occasion becomes more pleasant as time goes on," remarked his lordship, who said it was a matter of great satisfaction to admit her.

She first established herself in the public eye here when she ran for alderman in the November, 1933, civic election; and despite head shakings by veteran campaigners, who insisted no woman had a chance of success, romped home with 10,833 votes, second from head of the poll.

It was a daring thing to do, but her friends say she is like that. Quiet, unassuming, but a forceful personality for all that, this girl won for herself the distinction of being the youngest woman ever to be elected an alderman in Edmonton. Born in Edmonton, she matriculated from Strathcona High School and went on to a lengthy and brilliant academic career. At University of Alberta she graduated in arts in 1930 and two years later received her LL.B. The following year she received her high school teacher's diploma.

The young lawyer has had considerable practical experience in her profession, too. First in the summer of 1930 she served in the legal offices of Parlee, Freeman, Smith and Macle. Of more recent years she has been in the office of Newell, Lindsay, Emery and Ford.

Pioneer Teacher Dies in Alberta

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, March 19.—Mrs. Minnie Fulton, seventy-one, early settler and school teacher in the coal fields of Alberta, died Saturday at Hortonville, N.S., according to word reaching here.

For many years Mrs. Patterson, as Miss Minnie Fulton, was the inspiration and the ministering angel of the mining communities at Canmore, Alta. Dr. C. W. Gordon (Ralph Connor), Winnipeg author, said. At the time he was a missionary at Banff, he explained, "she taught school and cared for the needs of the miners. The men were crazy about her—a very fine, courageous and jolly woman."

PEACE MUST BE CONVICTION

Bishop Sherman of Calgary Warns Women Against War Hysteria

Calgary, March 19.—There is no value in the study of peace without conviction that peace is the one goal to be desired, in the opinion of Bishop L. Ralph Sherman of Calgary. The question cannot be settled in study groups alone, he told the Women's Canadian Club at a meeting called for organization of groups for a programme as outlined by the League of Nations Society in Canada.

"If another war came, would you be brave enough to withstand its hysteria, its so-called 'romance' and stand firmly against the tide of feeling were it against you?" his lordship asked his audience.

Following the bishop's challenge, Mrs. E. J. Thorlakson said women throughout the ages had achieved great reforms. In the difficult times of 1914 Canadian women could learn to think for themselves and not merely accept a traditional attitude on such questions as world peace.

They could study the past for peace. They could make it a living cause, for which to work unceasingly. They could join hands with the women of the United States to make the women of North America a vital force for peace in the world.

JUNIOR I.O.D.E. AS HOSTESSES

Royal Bride Chapter Held St. Patrick's Fair Saturday

The New Thought Hall was en-fete on Saturday afternoon when the little members of the Royal Bride (Junior) Chapter I.O.D.E. entertained at a St. Patrick's Day fair. Mrs. Sidney Wood, the regent and general convenor, welcoming the many guests. The traditional green and white formed the color motif of the attractive stalls, while on the daintily appointed tea table—daffodils and plum blossom nodded a gay welcome.

The prize for guessing the correct name of the doll, which was Patricia, was won by Mrs. F. J. Broughton, and the candlestick was awarded to Miss Violet Fowkes.

Contests, fortune telling and an interesting programme in which the members of the chapter took part, helped to make the affair a success. The candy was sold by B. Clark and Edna Holdridge and the spinning Jenny was in charge of Maryann Peterson, who was assisted by the members. Miss Audrey Wood told fortunes.

Piano solos were given by Marian Wingate, Lucy Huxsey and Joy Savage, while vocal solos were rendered by Edna Holdridge and Miss Audrey Wood. PASSED TO REST TO-DAY

THE LATE MRS. FANNY WITHERS

After a very long illness, Mrs. Fanny Withers, widow of Major Edward Withers, passed away early this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, 1922 St. Ann Street, with whom she had resided for some years. Mrs. Withers was born in Kidderminster, Worcestershire, England, on September 28, 1868, the fourth child of a family of seventeen, of whom three lived to be nonagenarians. In 1888 she sailed for New Zealand, the journey taking over sixteen weeks, owing to the vessel being becalmed in the Indian Ocean. Mrs. Withers was married in New Zealand, and there she lived for many years. Her husband, who was a major in command of a military district there, died about forty-five years ago. She lived in England until about twenty-six years ago, when she came with her family to British Columbia, residing for a time at Alberni. A widely-travelled woman, Mrs. Withers had twice circumnavigated the globe, and from Canada had been twice to England and twice to New Zealand, at an advanced age. She is survived by two sons and a daughter, Col. Charles McGregor Withers of the 8th Punjab, former Chief of Staff in the Waziristan district, India, now resident in Hampshire, England; Mr. Arthur Withers at Jasper Park, Alta., who served in the Royal Navy for many years; and Mrs. Alfred Carmichael of Victoria. Funeral services will be private.

The Divine Sarah (Rosine Sarah Bernhardt) was generally accorded the name of "the greatest actress of her time." Her marvelous voice and intense dramatic ability made her repeated tours of Canada a succession of triumphs. She played in Victoria several times. During the Great War the French government sent her to this continent to play. She died in 1923, at seventy-eight, one of the theatres immortals.

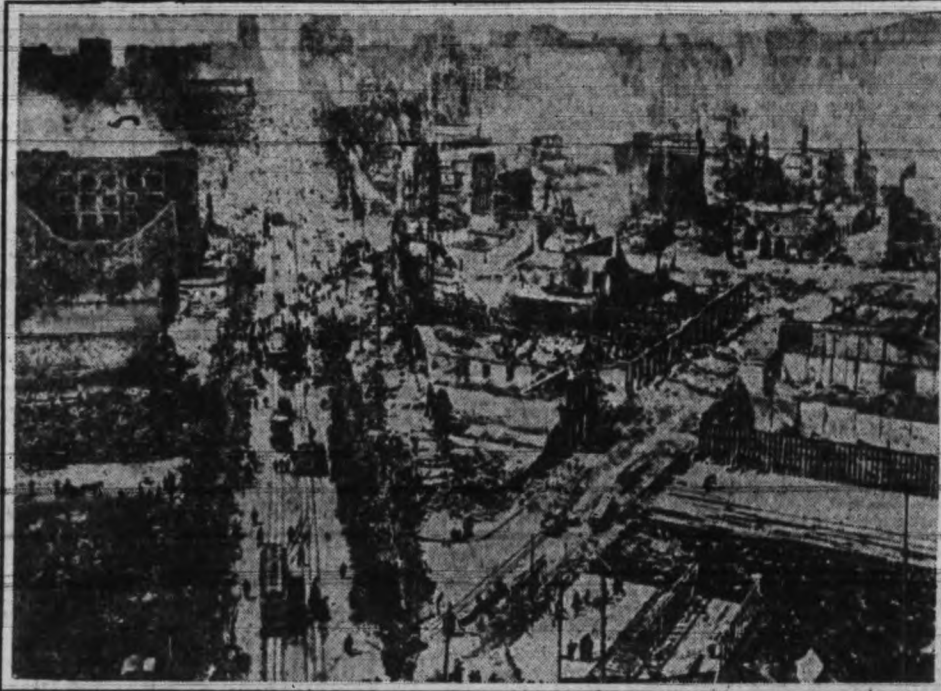

Taxicabs couldn't forget that they used to be hansom cabs when they first appeared in New York. Here is the first pair to brave the cobblestone streets, with the chauffeurs still clinging to the high beaver hat that was the badge of the cabbie.

You've heard, no doubt, of the famous "bicycle built for two." But here you see a bicycle built for two and a half, and the baby in the middle, riding between his proud papa and mama, was the sensation of Golden Gate Park in the San Francisco of 1897.

All set for a buggy ride. This is the way Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McAllister of the Royal Dairy took their Sunday afternoon constitutional twenty-five years ago. The turn-out was exceedingly smart, but you should have seen it when the awning was up! Mr. and Mrs. McAllister used to drive and ride some of the finest horses in Victoria. In the above picture Mrs. McAllister is sitting under a wonderful creation of millinery, while Mr. McAllister sports the bowler.

Twenty-eight years ago San Francisco was a smouldering ruin. This startling view was made from the tower of the Ferry Building and looks directly up Market Street. Crews of workmen may be seen in the street laying temporary car tracks so that work of rebuilding the damage caused by earthquake and fire may go forward even before the ruins have cooled.

Your Back Yard Garden PLANTS GROW WELL ONLY IN RIGHT SOIL

Good Drainage, Plenty of Humus and Deep Cultivation
Will Produce Splendid Results

This is the eighth of a series of articles by Donald Gray, famous landscape consultant, on how to make a beautiful garden your back yard.

By DONALD GRAY
of the dreams in the world will not make a beautiful garden, unless healthy plants are growing and blooming in it. You read about velvet lawns, but you cannot get them without first having good soil with available chemical foods for the plants to live on. It does not matter much whether the soil is clay, sand or rock, there must be drainage and there must be humus to a sufficient depth in the soil to encourage deep root growth. In most cases, unproductive soil is due to a mechanical defect, rather than a lack of plant food, for most soils contain chemicals that the plant wants if it can get hold of them. Water is a necessity for all growth, but it must appear and disappear intermittently. Plants cannot grow without it, neither can they grow in it all the time.

Just as many plants die of wet feet as do those from drought. To prevent this, drain your garden with agricultural farm tile in lines twenty feet apart at a depth of not less than two feet. Even pure sand can be so compact in the subsoil that water cannot get through it. Work the soil until it is friable. Spade deeply and often before planting. Where plants exist cultivate the soil around the roots, even if some of the roots are broken. Deep cultivation of the soil will remedy many of its defects. Heavy clay soil can have ashes, cinders or slag worked into it to make it porous. These same materials in sand soil will help hold the moisture during drought. Peat moss or humus also can be used for a mechanical means of breaking up clods. There are some soils that are naturally alkaline and others that are acid. Where the section leans toward one type or the other, little can be done in isolated gardens to grow the kind of plant that has an opposite preference. Acid loving plants, such as rhododendrons, will not grow in a marl section. But the average soil that becomes acid from the lack of aeration can be corrected by digging the soil deeply and by introducing into it peccosity in the form of cinders or ashes. Get your soil right mechanically, and plants will grow. Tuesday—Pruning Your Shrubs

The Blue Ribbons were a basket when Purves jumped up to touch the net when a shot from Forbes was rolling around the hoop. Art Chapman dribbled through to score and the Blue Ribbons within two points of their opponents. With half a minute remaining, Doug Peden shot and the ball rolled around the hoop and the crowd groaned. The final gun went off right after.

SOCCER TEAMS SQUARE AGAIN

Thistles' 1 to 0 Victory Over Wests Creates Deadlock; Esquimalt Beats City

Sanich Thistles football eleven climbed back into a tie with Victoria West for first berth in the Victoria Coast Football League first division standings Saturday afternoon, when they shed out a 1 to 0 victory in the first game of a twin soccer bill at Athletic Park. In the final attraction, Esquimalt met out a 4 to 2 defeat to a re-organized Victoria City eleven, and by so doing gained undisputed occupation of third place in the second half championship race.

A good crowd witnessed the matches, played under ideal weather and ground conditions. Closing in fast to meet his own number from a penalty kick and drive the leather into the net with Hood's husky form sprawled on the ground. Freddy Gibbons, Sanich Thistles' fullback, netted the goal that gave his teammates a 1 to 0 victory over the greenhairs.

From a football viewpoint the game left much to be desired, while the well-appeared hard feeling between the clubs did nothing to help the situation. Sanich Thistles had a decided edge in the first half and but for the defence of Esmer and Gibbons, Thistles' fullbacks, and Wally Rowe, clever net minder.

COMBINED ATTACK Presenting a better combined attack, the suburban front line staged a number of dangerous attacks on the greenhairs' citadel. However, when they had the goal beaten their shots hit the upright or else one of the fullbacks came to the rescue.

Thistles in succession Gibbons hit the framework with Hood beaten, while on another occasion O'Neil, flashy fullback, hooked the ball out when Hood failed to recover after making a great save.

Wests missed their best first-half opportunity when Storey asked over his crossbar with an empty goal at his mercy. With the arrival of the rest interval the score sheet was still clean. Stofor replaced Danny Glancy at centre forward for the Thistles as the second half opened.

Wests went about the business of trying to defeat the Thistles with vengeance soon after the half got under way. They tried three times in quick succession. Wally Rowe, suburban goalie, made great saves. In clearing the last time he came in collision with Robinson and was knocked cold. Play was suspended for about seven minutes.

STEWART INJURED Shortly after Rowe had properly recovered from his neck injury Dave Stewart, of the greenhairs, was carried from the field of play after being kicked in the face by Betheridge, a teammate, while endeavoring to head the ball clear. With his face badly hurt, Stewart was taken to the dressing room and Wright was substituted.

Play resumed with Gibbons taking a penalty given for hands seconds before the injury. Stewart, Gibbons drove the leather goalward with terrific force but Hood, in a sensational save, smothered the shot. However, before he could recover Gibbons rushed up and scored from the rebound of his own shot.

BARNES MISSES PENALTY Wests were awarded a penalty seconds later when Gibbons fouled Robinson. Barnes took the kick but Rowe saved in masterful fashion. The second penalty immediately following for a foul against Joe Crowe, was taken by Barnes and this time he missed the goal by feet. This proved to be the greenhairs' last great chance to at least gain a draw and when the final whistle sounded shortly after the score stood 1 to 0 for the Sanich Thistles.

Shirington refereed. The teams follow: Sanich Thistles—Rowe, Esmer and F. Gibbons, Williams, J. Crowe, and Leggett; L. Gibbons, Rogers, Glancy, Betheridge, and Stofor.

Victoria West—Hood; O'Neil and Thompson; Peers, Barnes and Stewart; Musgrave, Storey, Robinson, Betheridge, Youcon and Wright.

ESQUIMALT WINS Overcoming a two-goal lead established by Victoria City in the first twenty minutes of play, Esquimalt drew up even before the rest interval arrived, and then added two additional markers in the second half to defeat Victoria City 4 to 2.

Harry Holmes, diminutive left winger, stole all the glory for the City eleven by netting their only goal. Twenty minutes from the start he accepted McBay's pass and closed in fast to beat DeCosta with a sliding drive. He gave Victoria City a two-goal lead three minutes later when he headed the leather home following a cross from Gibson.

Esquimalt netted their first marker after Joe Watt failed to score on a penalty. Staging a dangerous attack on the City citadel, "Scotty" Stewart pushed the ball towards the goal and John Watt closed fast and lodged the leather into the net. Wensley came out to meet Watt but was beaten to the ball. Seconds before the rest interval "Scotty" Stewart scored with a nice drive.

Fifteen minutes after the resumption Esquimalt took the lead when Bobby Stewart scored in the far corner of the net after receiving a pass from John Watt. Pepin made the opening for the final marker late in this half and passed to John Watt, who bagged in his second goal, and incidentally the last of the match.

Swan refereed. The teams: Esquimalt—DeCosta; Sweeney and Joe Watt; Pepin, Boyd and Barnes; Bob Stewart; "Scotty" Stewart, John Watt, Wagland and Hall. Victoria City—Wensley; Carmichael and Harper; Robertson, Moody and Bagg; Gibson, A. Murray, Purdy, McBay, Holmes and Hess.

Garrison Tommies Reach Rugby Final

Defeat J.B.A.A. 6 to 3 in Semi-final of Cowichan Cup Knockout Series; Will Meet Fifth Brigade in Final on March 31

Continuing the triumphant march which has carried them through the current season without defeat, the Garrison senior B rugby fifteen Saturday afternoon advanced to the finals of the Cowichan Cup knock-out series by handing the J.B.A.A. senior A squad a 6 to 3 set-back before a fair crowd at the Victoria High School. The game was one of the best of the season and hard-fought throughout, and was a tough one for the Bays to drop. With fine weather prevailing a fair crowd was on hand. The Garrison will meet the Fifth Brigade on March 31 for the championship.

Play was fairly even throughout with the Bays having a slight edge with their three-quarter line during the first half. The scrums were about even. Garrison scored a try in both halves, while the Gorge score came during the second canto. Bays kept the play in Garrison territory, during most of the game and missed several golden chances to score, while the soldiers were effective with their timely rushes.

ADDITION MISSES From the opening kick-off the Bays pressed and after play had been carried back to midfield a couple of times by the soldiers, Joe Addison, fleet-footed wing man for the losers, went over the line for what looked like the first try of the game. Running down the side, however, his foot went into touch and play was called back for a five-yard scrum. With the Bays still forcing the play, Turgoose tried a nice try for a field goal but a pretty three run.

Garrison pressed, but the fighting Bays carried the game again into their opponents' territory and Buss Brown tried a nice try for a field goal but the kick went wide.

The Tommies began to retaliate and played for about the next ten minutes within the Bays' twenty-five yard line. Brown relieved twice with nice kicks to touch, when the Garrison was close to scoring.

GARRISON SCORES The opening try came ten minutes before the half was called when John Lee, who turned in a nice performance for the winners, crashed through the Bays' line to score on the side. Just previous Lee missed when he tried a drop from a free kick. Featherstone's kick for extra points was wide.

From the kick-off the Bays fought hard to equalize and Joe Addison was again checked out of another try when tackled within a couple of feet of the army line.

The Bays' try came so soon after the opening of the last canto that a number of spectators missed it. As soon as his team had received the ball and had forced the play into Garrison ground, Schultze snatched the leather and crashed through in a similar manner to which Lee did, and scored right between the posts.

PASSES GOLDEN CHANCE It looked as though the Bays were going into the lead with the wonderful chance they had of making good the kick for extra points, but Lemm's attempt failed miserably.

After ten minutes had ticked away the Bays were awarded a penalty kick and Dick George made a valiant attempt, but the ball fell just short of the bar, the distance being a little too great.

Galbraith relieved for the Garrison with a nice field run while the oarsmen were forcing the play, and following up on this a scrum was called five yards from the Bays' line. The Garrison's weighty scrum pushed the Bays over and Loveless fell on the ball to make the score 6 to 3 for the army. Featherstone's kick failed from a difficult angle.

BAYS NEARLY TALLY Play was about even for the remainder of the half with both teams tiring from the hard playing. Garrison nearly scored again ten minutes before the whistle, but Brown again came to his team's rescue with a handy kick to touch. With a minute to go the Bays' forwards fought hard and nearly made good an attempt at scoring, when led by Bill Robbing they dribbled down the field, only to have a twenty-five-yard kick given the Garrison after one of their men fell on the ball behind his own line.

J. B. Acland refereed. The teams were: Garrison—Lindsey, Buxton, Loveless, Poehock, Galbraith, Featherstone, Stewart, Martin, Wistron, Rowton, Wright, Lee, Woodrow and Ward. J.B.A.A.—Parrott, Addison, Brown, Turgoose, Beck, McKenzie, Carmichael, Peard, Lemm, Robbins, George, Pettigrew, Schultze, Rogers and Usher.

Kill that COLD!

Don't Merely Coddle It with Half-Way Measures!

A cold is nothing to trifle with. Don't waste precious time—take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine quickly. It does the four things necessary. First, it opens the bowels. Second, it combats the cold germs in the system. It relieves that headache and "grippy" feeling, tones the entire system and helps fortify against further attacks.

WARNING! Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is being inauspiciously imitated. Don't be deceived by these inferior products. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is NOT chocolate-coated because that would interfere with the action of the tablet. Dealers who offer substitutes do so because they make more money on them. Exercise your rights. Insist upon GROVE'S Laxative Bromo Quinine and look for the name on the package.

LIBERAL RALLY AT SHAWNIGAN

C. E. Whitney Griffiths and Other Speakers Heard By Large Gathering

Shawnigan Lake, March 19.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Shawnigan Liberal Association was held in the S.L.A.A. Hall last week. C. E. Whitney Griffiths, W. A. Walker, president, and T. Pullen, secretary of the Lutton association, addressed the meeting.

W. E. Fraser, president of the Shawnigan Association, acted as chairman. Mr. Walker and Mr. Pullen brought the good wishes of their association, reporting they were in a flourishing condition. C. E. Whitney Griffiths gave a very instructive address dealing with the progress so far of the Liberal government and gave the message that he was convinced that Premier Pattullo would implement his promise of work and wages. He also paid a fine tribute to the work of Hon. G. S. Pearson in his endeavor to solve the problem of a square deal for the wage earner. He dealt with the unfairness of the game laws and said he was convinced that the Dominion and provincial governments would start a programme of public works to relieve the distress. He paid a tribute to the earnest desire of all parties in the House to work for a better condition of affairs.

Mrs. Brown sang two solos, accompanied by Miss Doughty. Mr. Whitney Griffiths announced that Hon. Geo. Pearson had promised to address the association at the close of the present session.

OPENING EVENT

SSPECTACULAR

Effective Lighting Display

Attracts Attention to New

Shell Service Station

With spectacular new lighting effects, the new Shell service station

at the corner of Port and Yates

Streets was officially opened on Saturday under the direction of James

H. Reid, local manager of the Shell

Oil Company, and Frank Clement, as-istant district manager in charge of retail sales.

The electric lighting display attracted much interest on Saturday night. One of three powerful units was installed to illuminate with varicolored light. The others shot their brilliance into the darkness of the night. The rays of one of these units are visible for a distance of twenty-five miles.

The lighting display will be continued for the ensuing week, probably, Mr. Reid announced to-day.

The new service station is equipped with the most modern apparatus known to the business. It presents a handsome appearance architectually, with shrubbery and flower arranged. Rest rooms for men and women are finely appointed. The yard, itself, is laid with Shell Color asphalt penetration product made in British Columbia.

The station will feature the "51-point" Shell lubrication service which consists of lubricating, cleaning and even extends to the cleaning of the inside of a car with a vacuum cleaner.

Up-to-date hydraulic hoists have been installed to expedite service.

The battery service will feature the Breakdown Test, which gives the motorist a quick diagnosis as to the condition of his battery and will save him the inconvenience resulting from unexpected battery failure.

El. Plaskett will be agent for the company in charge of the new station. He will have as his assistants

George Pearson and Charles Truswell. Strategically located, the new service station is expected to be very popular with the motoring

public.

Funeral Tuesday

Funeral services for John Harris,

who passed away Saturday in St.

Joseph's Hospital, will be held tomorrow afternoon, the cortege leaving McCall Bros' Funeral Home at Church, where Rev. F. A. Weaver will conduct the services at 2:30 o'clock.

Interment will be in Royal Oak

Burial Park.

Mr. Harris was born in Sanford,

Devonshire, England, and was a veteran of the Indian frontier campaign and the Boxer War, being one of the survivors of the siege of Ladysmith.

He had been an employee of the local

Post Office for over twenty years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs.

Isabella Harris, and a son, Ernest,

at the family home, 2647 Forbes Street,

another son, Edwin, in Vancouver;

a sister, Mrs. Stevenson, and a brother,

Frank Harris, of this city; three sisters and a brother in England, and a fifth sister in Ontario.

lecturer on economic problems and socialism, will deliver an address in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium this evening at 8:15 o'clock.

His subject will be "The New Dictatorship." V. R. Midgley will take the and mates in Victoria has been called for to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at Room 410, Union Building.

Collinson Street, was stolen from the garage adjoining the house yesterday evening, according to a police report.

Two motorists, who pleaded guilty to parking their cars for more than an hour in the city, were fined $2.50

each in City Police Court this morning.

Arthur Leigh, Duncan McBride and

Neil Lamont were guests at the luncheon at Chamber of Commerce

rectors in Spencer's dining-room

to-day.

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce to-day referred to their legislative committee a recommendation for the licensing of contractors in the city's building field.

A quantity of butter, kept in the meat safe on the rear veranda, was stolen from the home of Mrs. W. A.

Mulcahy, 1255 Balmoral Avenue, according to a report made to the city police.

Thanks for the invitation to use the facilities of the Chamber of Commerce reading-room were expressed in letters received by the directors of the chamber to-day from members of the Provincial Legislature.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce will endeavor to make arrangements to entertain members of the provincial government at a smoker

some time during the next session of the house.

The young people of Foul Bay community will hold an open meeting at the Wildwood Hall to-morrow evening for the purpose of raising money for a memorial fountain. Both junior and adults are invited to attend.

The agricultural committee of the Divisional and team leaders have for the head team commander. At the conclusion of the campaign, the date of which is expected to be set

this evening, they will receive a battered top-hat and a harmonica, respectively. The origin of the former symbol is veiled in the mists of time.

The latter is stated to be for blowing the victor's own trumpet.

WILL TELL OWN CASE

The feature of this evening's meeting will be short addresses by a boy and a girl, who will tell what the words "Y" has meant for each of them.

No better statement of the objects and achievements of the two associations could be made than theirs.

Nearly 100 business men and women of Victoria have given their time and a great deal of effort to this campaign.

Two years ago the Imperial Oil

Company voted $8,000 for a beautification scheme in the harbor, which would clean up the northeast side of the basin around the company's super station and would furnish stone facilities for water craft, requiring gasoline, oil and mechanical attention at the company's plant. It was understood the company would secure the lease at a very nominal

the lease at $100 a month, the scheme was abandoned.

Mr. Plunkett asked he be forwarded letters from the chamber to him for the purpose of pointing out the benefits to the city of such a scheme.

In the letters which will go forward the two bodies will also state that the contribution of the company to beautifying the site, has taken over the operation of the comfort station

there, effecting a saving of $1,000 annually to the city.

The matter was endorsed by the directors.

Outside Weakness And Poor Support Brings Wheat Down

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, March 19.—Weakness in outside markets and lack of support locally, edged wheat prices lower on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day and accounted for losses of 1/4 cent.
Prices at Chicago steadied up a little in the closing minutes, enabling Winnipeg quotations to rise slightly from the low points, but the finish was uneasy. Closing figures on the May delivery were 67 1/2 with July at 68 1/2 cents.
The market took on a holiday appearance early in the day and trading dragged throughout. With only a minimum of support in evidence, prices failed to rally. Big declines were checked by the lightness of offerings.

Export sales over the weekend were negligible. Chicago declined about one cent. Liverpool was off 1/4 d. at the close.
Cash grain trade was confined to a few odd lots, and coarse grains prices backed away in featureless trading.
Chicago, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Dominated by liquidating sales grain values displayed weakness to-day.
Wheat closed unstable, 1/4-1/2 down; corn, 1/4-1/2 down; oats, 1/4-1/2 down; and provisions varying from twenty cents decline to an advance of two cents.

A Mystery Novel

By K. S. DAIGER

(Copyright by Macrae-Smith Company)

Anderson flashed me a meaning glance, and I knew what he was thinking. Was this man the same mysterious phone caller of the morning of the murder? Mrs. Deane had described the same uncouth nasal voice.

"That's all for the present," ended Anderson. "Anything the rest of you want to know?" turning to the other officers.

There was silence and then the newspaper men made a dash for their respective phones. For them the interview was at an end. For Tim and for us it was just beginning.

And then followed the real grilling—hours and hours of it. Officer after officer took up the questioning, twisting Tim inside out, shouting questions at him, bullying him, accusing him, wheeling him, threatening him. How anybody could have been guilty and withstood the dreadful volleys of questions is beyond me.

It lasted all that night and well into the following morning, until Tim, without food, without sleep, was about ready to have confessed to anything.

But he always stuck to the same statements; he had not murdered Mrs. Paige and a tall man with a hoarse voice had come into the cellar. We never broke him. No matter how many different ways we approached his story, it was always the same. Its final form varied not an iota from the first.

"Take him away," said Anderson at last, when it became clear that Tim was simply incapable of any further conversation. "Give him a chance to think things over."

"Now, boys, let's all get to bed and try to get some sleep. I want you all up at the Paige house to-night promptly at eight o'clock. I have a little idea about this murder which may be all wet but I want to try it out. We're going to reconstruct this crime and we must make a minute examination of the house. If I can find one thing, we shall solve this case. And it will prove that Stokes' story is true."

"Remember—to-night at the Paige house—eight o'clock sharp!"

And now I come to the terrible and unforgettable event of that tragic Friday night—that night when the murderer of Sonia Paige was to exact another grim toll on his bloody trail, that night when we realized for the first time that this very murderer was still loose in our midst and still intent on killing.

The day began with a warm foggy morning. Hour after hour the barometer dropped steadily and late in the afternoon the elements broke loose in unrelenting fury. That storm—like the Paige case—has gone down in history. Technically, it was a hurricane which, sweeping up the coast from Florida, lashed Baltimore with a savage sweep of its tail as it described its parabola out to sea.

To those who were present, to be abroad—it was nothing more than a little slice of hell. The fury of the wind was terrific. It uprooted magnificent trees, tore down signs from buildings, even whipped the roofs from houses and the tops from automobiles as if they were tops in the hands of an angry child. The rain, pouring down in an unrelenting torrent, was seized by the wind and whirled about in blinding clouds of stinging spray.

It was a memorable night—a night fit for murder to stalk abroad!

Eight o'clock had been set aside for the reconstruction of the crime on the old Paige estate. I delivered as I thought of it. How dismal the old grounds would be—how cold—how eerie! The night that little Sunny had been killed there had been moonlight bathing the world in its soft glow.

To-night there would be what?

I put this chapter of the Paige case under a certain degree of hesitation. I have lived through some amazing experiences in my career as a crime reporter and investigator. There was, however, that night when the newspaper photographer and I hid in the deserted cemetery at Havre de Grace to get some pictures of the private funeral the next morning—and when the murderers, intent upon paying a last visit to the grave of his victim—came to the grave. I can still remember that thrill of horror.

Again there was the time when we raided the old Rudel tomb in the Home Bazaar Cemetery to apprehend the Norris bandits. We were all armed to the teeth and ready to blaze away at the bat of an eyelash. Death lurked there in that last resting place of the vanished Rudels. But I was not afraid.

Not even that night, I say, could surpass the horror of the terrible events which I am about to relate.

But I am getting away from my story. Let me tell you, with what composure I can, of the incidents which took place on that Friday night—the night planned for the reconstruction of the crime.

I knew exactly what had prompted Captain Andy to take this singular action. In his mind there was still the faint hope that Kirk Judson might be wrong—that the police department might, still, catch the murderer. That by some grace of God, Tim Stokes might actually be telling the truth. And there was just the chance that an exhaustive re-examination and search, in the light of Tim's yarn, might uncover something.

These things I knew as well as if the inspector had told them to me. And I was sorry for him—profoundly sorry—because I believed Tim Stokes to be guilty of the murder beyond any shadow of reasonable doubt. His story was just such as a crook would concoct.

The time set was eight and it lacked only a few minutes of that hour when I parked my fiver and arrived, wet and dripping and chilled through, upon the front porch of the Paige house. The place looked black and silent except for a light in the library and a dim one in the hall. In a few minutes, I knew that it would be a blaze of lights from cellar to garret as a corps of detectives and newspapermen made their way from room to room.

MacNalley was in his customary place at the door. He greeted me cordially and held the door open. I went in with a swirl of wind and rain.

CHAPTER XXXI

Anderson and Carroll were in the living-room, surrounded by a corps of experienced detectives and police officials, many of whom I knew by sight and many personally. Hurley and Katz of the detective bureau were present, I remember, and Wilgins and Marshall of the homicide squad. There were two finger print experts, Williams and Fountleroy, and Tindall, captain of detectives. There were other police men, a number of officers in uniform.

Somewhat to my surprise I noticed Ranny Paige, very pale but composed. "I think Anderson wants him to go through the whole works again," said Carroll, slipping up beside me.

Obviously Anderson had some plan ready for he held in his hand a sheaf of papers which he consulted attentively. Finally he looked at his watch and said:

"Well, gentlemen, I see that everyone is present except Mr. Judson. A murmur passed through the room like the forest rustling in a breeze. "I have invited him to be present," explained the inspector. "He has done invaluable work on this case, and we owe our entire progress to him, and I have requested him, as Mr. Paige's personal representative, to be with us. He's late but I suppose this weather is enough to delay anybody."

"Did you notice Mr. Cleveland?" whispered Carroll to Mr. Judson. And, sure enough, there in a big armchair by the fireside, with his head resting on his hand, sat the lawyer. Was he planning to make him go through his story again? What an ordeal for a man!

Uncle Wiggly's Last Slide

(By HOWARD H. GARIS)

Uncle Wiggly had been out in the woods all day looking for an adventure. He hopped out in the morning, kissing his pink twinkling nose in good-bye to his wife, who stood in the doorway of his hollow stump bungalow.

"Have a nice adventure!" called Mrs. Longears, waving her hand.

But the rabbit gentleman didn't. He could find no adventure at all and he came home to lunch rather somnolent.

"Perhaps you'll find one this afternoon," squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, as she set a plate of carrot pancakes in front of Mr. Longears. "I shall try," said Uncle Wiggly. So he hopped out to the woods in the afternoon and again looked for an adventure. But even the Bad Chaps who so often used to bother him—the Fox, the Wolf and the Bob Cat—seemed to have gone away for a vacation. They were not to be seen.

"Well, I think I had better go home," said the rabbit gentleman to himself. "And if I don't find an adventure before I get to my bungalow, there will be no bedtime story to-night. And that will be too bad!"

Uncle Wiggly was about half way home when all of a sudden, he heard the most jolly laughter to which he ever had listened. It seemed to come from a little dell in the woods near where the rabbit gentleman knew there was a little waterfall which slanted down into a pond of water.

"That is, it splashes in summer," said Uncle Wiggly to himself, "but now I suppose the fall and the pond are frozen into ice. But that is where the laughing comes from. I must go see who is having such fun. I don't believe it can be any of the Bad Chaps."

But even though he believed the laughter did not come from the Fox, the Wolf or the Bob Cat, Uncle Wiggly was very careful as he hopped through the woods toward the sound. He knew better than to go plop or smack right out in the open. For, after all, it might be some enemy who would catch and nibble him.

The rabbit gentleman was soon close enough to see who was laughing. It was two beaver boys, Toodle and Noodle Flat Tail. And the beaver boys, who were as chubby and fat and furry as a Newfoundland dog puppy, were having great fun. Beavers have broad flat tails like a ping-pong paddle and Toodle and Noodle were sitting on their tails, like sleds, and coasting down the waterfall which was frozen into as fine a hill as heart could wish.

Toodle and Noodle would slide down the frozen waterfall and half way across the frozen pond at the bottom. "Whee!" shouted Toodle, as he slid down backward.

As they skidded across the ice on the pond the beaver boys saw Uncle Wiggly looking at them.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggly!" called Toodle. "You're just in time."

"In time for what?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"In time for the last slide," said Noodle. "If you don't come with us now and slide down the waterfall you will have no more chances."

"Why not?" asked the bunny uncle.

"Because," answered Toodle, "the weather is turning warmer. It is almost spring and by to-morrow this ice will begin to melt. Then there will be no more slides—so if you want any, you had better take some last slides now."

"I will," said Uncle Wiggly, laughing in a jolly way. He did the beaver boys. "But I haven't any flat tail like yours to sit on for a sled. My tail is no good for sliding."

"Get yourself a piece of bark off a tree," said Toodle.

"We'll help you gnaw it," offered Noodle. Beavers, you know, have very good teeth, like carpenter's chisels, for gnawing. They can even bite down large trees.

So Toodle and Noodle helped the rabbit gentleman gnaw a large piece of thick bark off a tree. And with this for a sled, Mr. Longears began to take his last slide. He scrambled up to the top of the waterfall, which wasn't straight up and down, but slanted like a hill. Uncle Wiggly sat down on his bark sled, Toodle and Noodle sat down on their flat tail sleds and away they went.

"Whee!" Wrote Wiggly.

Faster and faster they slid down the frozen slide until they reached the frozen pond and then they skidded across that. Uncle Wiggly shouting and laughing in glee.

"At last I have found an adventure for a Bedtime Story," he said. "And if the frying pan will take the can opener for a walk in the park I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly plop-plop in."
